Quarterly Fund Manager Review

The fund posted a positive return over the quarter and performed broadly in line with its performance comparator, the ABI (IP) Mixed Investment 0%-35% Shares peer group average. Both equities and income contributed to absolute returns. Credit selection was the key contributor to performance as credit spreads tightened. Specifically, the overweight stance in asset-backed securities (ABS) such as Intu, and AA Bond were the top contributors to returns from an issuer standpoint. Our excess yield over the index was a consistent positive over the quarter, primarily through our positioning in ABS and property names. NatWest's fourth quarter earnings were well received as they highlighted a marked slowing in flows out of current accounts into higher yielding products, which had held back profits in 2023. Shares in Lloyds also rose as they also benefitted from reduced uncertainty surrounding the potential impact of the FCA review into historical motor finance commission arrangements. Wealth manager Mattioli Woods saw a sharp rally after it announced it had agreed to be acquired by Private equity firm Pollen Street Capital. The position in drugmaker Novo Nordisk strengthened, as it took steps to boost production capacity for its popular obesity drug Wegovy by buying Catalent, a supplier of the injection devices used to administer the drug, and continued to report solid results. Within energy, Diamondback Energy rallied after it announced a $26 billion deal to buy the largest privately held oil and gas producer in the Permian basin, Endeavor Energy Partners.
