Fund objective

The iShares UK Credit Bond Index fund (the underlying 'Fund') aims to achieve a total return on your investment, through a combination of capital growth and income, which reflects the return of the iBoxx Sterling Non-Gilt Index, the Fund's benchmark index. The Fund invests predominantly in the fixed income (FI) securities (such as bonds) that make up the Fund's benchmark index (which comprises Sterling denominated bonds excluding UK gilts). A gilt is a FI security such as a bond issued by the British Government. The FI securities may be issued by governments, government agencies, companies and supranationals (e.g. the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development) domiciled in countries both in and outside the European Union and will be investment grade (i.e. meet a specified level of credit worthiness) at the time of purchase. If the credit rating of a FI security is downgraded, the Fund may continue to hold this, until it is practicable to sell the position.

The benchmark index measures the performance of all domestic and eurobond securities, denominated in Sterling, with varying redemption dates (i.e. the date on which some, or all, of the principal amount and interest is repaid during the life of the security) and maturities (i.e. the time until the security becomes due for repayment) and credit ratings. The Fund uses techniques for efficient portfolio management purposes or to protect against exchange rate risk. These techniques may include the strategic selection of certain securities that make up the benchmark index or other FI securities which provide similar performance to certain constituent securities. They may also include the use of financial derivative instruments (i.e. investments the prices of which are based on one or more underlying assets).

Fund features

This fund invests in assets which have the potential to produce stable and steady longer term returns. The returns are expected to be more stable and fluctuate in value far less than equities but as a consequence the returns are likely to be much lower. Over some periods of time the value of your investment can fall.

Unless held as part of a personalised portfolio invested to achieve an overall balance of risk and return, this fund is more suited for shorter-term investment. Investing solely in this fund for the longer-term may result in a lower return than a bank or building society savings account.
